FinStream TV
finstream.tv

Youngest Female Stockbroker on NYSE Talks Financial Literacy

Admin User · July 31, 2018

Lauren Simmons, the youngest woman to be a full-time stockbroker for the New York Stock Exchange, talks about the importance of financial literacy. Simmons said there should be courses in schools to teach children the [...]

Lauren Simmons, the youngest woman to be a full-time stockbroker for the New York Stock Exchange, talks about the importance of financial literacy. Simmons said there should be courses in schools to teach children the basics of finance, such as balancing a check book and learning about savings and checking accounts.